

KNAPP'S FIRST BREAKDOWN.

Sheds Tears Before Emma Littleman's Father.

Prisoner Continues to Tell Details of His Crimes.

Aged Father Says His Son Would Better Be Dead—Family Has Evidence.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M. HAMILTON (O.) March 1.—Alfred Knapp was today visited by Herman Littleman of Cincinnati, father of Emma Littleman, the victim of Knapp's first murder in Cincinnati. Littleman was unable to identify Knapp as any man whom he had ever seen or knew. The most significant feature of the interview was the fact that for the first time Knapp expressed some remorse, and showed signs of breaking down before the enraged father.

Littleman stood outside the cell, and after he looked at Knapp, said: "I have never seen this man. I do not care to look at him any more."

Knapp said: "I am just as sorry as I can be that little Emma is dead. She had eyes and hair like yours."

As Littleman turned away, tears stood in Knapp's eyes. This was his first demonstration in that way. The prisoner was in better health today, and he passed the Sabbath quietly.

Judge Holden said today that he had not been asked to call a special grand jury, and there might be none, as the county was very busy now.

While convicted of minor offenses, Knapp was never charged with capital offenses until his brother-in-law last week started an investigation. With all the charges of inhumanity, robbery and other crimes, it is conceded that his predominant trait is that of brutality. Two of his crimes in penitentiaries were for criminal assault. The officers say he lured his victims to secluded spots before strangling them, and that his deliberation is shown in his efforts to evade detection.

In jail, Knapp mingles freely with other prisoners, eats well, sleeps well, and talks cheerfully and freely to all visitors. The most damaging statements he makes with a manner as matter of fact as the ordinary man in any form assumes, and he is quite a talker. He is quite a reader, and he kept supplied with magazines and books, but is not allowed to see newspapers. He enjoys card playing with other prisoners.

EVIDENCE IN THE FAMILY. BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M. CINCINNATI (O.) March 1.—Since it has been determined to arraign Alfred Knapp at Hamilton tomorrow, and have a trial as soon as possible for the murder of Hannah Goddard, his third wife, the efforts of the city and county officials have been to get the necessary evidence regarding the three crimes which Knapp confessed to committing in the penitentiary.

While neither the parents nor the brother, Cyrus Knapp, nor the sisters, Mrs. King and Mrs. Wenzel, are under actual surveillance here, the officers are keeping track of them. The family all they can for the defense, and have created so much sympathy for their aged parents that the Knapp home was thronged today with visitors, many of whom brought flowers. The Kings asked for the apprehension of the prisoner. After killing his third wife in Hamilton, the morning of December 22, Knapp, on the morning of that date called on his brother-in-law.

PITTSBURGH IN THE SWIM.

Hundreds of Families Forced to Abandon Homes.

Scores of Mills Closed and Business Houses Flooded.

Farms Submerged in the Country Districts—Danger Point at Wheeling—Rivers Rise.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M. PITTSBURGH (Pa.) March 1.—With every tributary of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers emptying swirling torrents into the banks of these two streams and rushing down to the point where they converge to form the Ohio, Pittsburgh was given a visitation to-day which forced hundreds of families to abandon their homes or seek escape from the water in the upper stories, while mud and water displaced destruction and discomfort below. Mills in the low-lying levels throughout the country, numbering between fifty and sixty, were flooded, and $5,000 men are thrown out of work temporarily.

The flood was general throughout western Pennsylvania, the streams everywhere overflowing their banks and causing more or less damage to houses and farms that lay in their course. Downtown in Pittsburgh cellars and basements of business houses which are in the general flood district were inundated, while in Allegheny two railroads were temporarily paralyzed.

The water covering their tracks, persons in the Fourth and Third wards at Allegheny used boats in going to and from their homes. Ample warning had been received by most of the residents and business firms threatened in time for them to make preparations to minimize losses.

The highest stage reached at Pittsburgh was 24 feet at the government dam at Herr's Island. This was at 6 o'clock in the evening, when it became stationary and gradually began to subside. The cold weather which set in last night served to check the flood and prevented more serious results.

Soon after daylight the water took possession of the point districts in Pittsburgh and came up almost into Penn avenue. All of Lower Allegheny felt the severest effects of the high water, and practically every house between Inabla street and the river from the Ninth-street bridge to the Point have completely little damage.

From the territory up the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers come reports that much damage was done by the flooding of the lower floors of houses, mills and factories. From all points above on both rivers the waters are reported as either falling or stationary, and danger is averted. Towns below here on the river, however, are still to have their worse experiences during the present high water, tomorrow.

At McKees Rocks and Coropola, a few miles below Pittsburgh, the water tonight is so high that the basements of both places are under water and several street-car lines were forced to suspend operations. East Liverpool, O., reports thirty feet of water, seventy-five houses flooded and several of the pottery plants in danger of being abandoned.

At Wellsville, four miles below East Liverpool, the mill of the American Tinplate Company is partially inundated, and scores of families are suffering. Steubenville, O., reports thirty feet.

STUART SAYS
KEEN THINGS.Former Partner of Preacher
Sam Jones Talks.Crowded House Listens to Words of the Evangelist.Revival at the Trinity Methodist Church Opened by Famous Tennessee Orator.

Evangelist George R. Stuart, who for more than ten years traveled with the celebrated Sam Jones, opened a series of revival meetings in Trinity Methodist Church, South, last night before one of the largest audiences that ever gathered in the church.

There are many who consider Mr. Stuart a more forceful speaker than his noted partner, he being a more fluent talker, while possessing much of Jones' humor.

He has a slight southern accent and speaks with great rapidity, but these characteristics rather added to the impressiveness of his remarks, chiefly because he always had something good to say.

Although he spoke for a little over an hour, so closely did he hold his hearers that it seemed he had hardly begun when he concluded.

As one man aptly put it, "the audience laughed and cried and thought and went home to be better men and women."

Mr. Stuart is a Tennesseean and this is his first visit to this coast. Although he has made a large reputation for himself in the East and Middle West. He took for his text Galatians vi, 10, "The theme was 'Opportunity to Do Good,' and his line of thought was as follows: 'The first opportunity God gives anybody is to be somebody.'

GEORGE R. STUART.

"Twice thought is thought, and as long as you can multiply thought it's thought. The only way it can have value is to put a figure with it. Some folks are worth it to help make up a crowd. But God gives everybody an opportunity to be great somewhere, somewhere. If you cannot be great in any other way, you can be a great toiler."

A tall, awkward youth stood in store door. A man drove by loaded with household goods. A barrel rolled from his wagon. He said to the youth, 'Buy the barrel; it will not stay on my wagon.' The youth was made, and the man drove off. The youth found in it Blackstone's Commentaries on the Law. He read those books, and that fact made him Lincoln, President of the United States, for that was a fact in his life and became a stepping stone to his career.

"Another youth went from his father's home to New York to start in life. His first job was in a printing office. The boss ordered him discharged on account of his untidy and awkward appearance. But when his work was examined it was found to be the best ever done in a day in that printing house. He was retained and became the head man of the establishment, and the next year he is running for President of the United States, and we call him Horace Greeley."

"God gives opportunities on every hand. Christianity is the science of manhood. Christianity is the science of manhood."

decided to prosecute their filibuster until Congress adjourns in December last and urged the publicity feature and ample funds to carry it out. Members of the Knights of Labor and Anti-Trust League said tonight that even $150,000 was really small, and that the amount should have been at least five times $150,000.

The labor organizations fight for a greater measure of publicity than is furnished by the Nelson amendment, under which the Bureau of Corporations is to be operated, and failed. This game of trusts operating on Congress is, if anything, worse than the enactment of the alleged anti-trust legislation. Special agents of the Bureau of Corporations, who are to be the real work, are, by the little game of the House, already equipped with a numerous force.

NOT A POLYGLAMIST.
SMOOT REPEATS DENIAL.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Apostle Reed Smoot of the Mormon Church in Utah, and the member-elect of the United States Senate, repeats the denial he made two days ago that he is a polyglamist. "I am not a polyglamist," said Smoot. "I have been married only once, and I was astounded at the charges made by Rev. Mr. Leupp that I am a polyglamist. Of course, if it is proved that I am a polyglamist, I will resign my seat in the Senate."

One of the things that gives the Republican leaders grave consideration in these closing hours of the session is the weakness of the position of the House conferees on the proposed bills. With the present tie-up in the House, the House conferees cannot go back to the House for instructions without a complete agreement, except at the price of great risk and delay. The Senate conferees have not been slow to take advantage of this situation. It is said, and believed, that the House is at their mercy, they are insisting on propositions which the House conferees say they would be forced to abandon if the House could be appealed to uphold the hands of its representatives.

HEALTH OFFICIALS SATISFIED.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Marine Hospital Service today issues a special bulletin upon the plague situation in San Francisco, giving all correspondence that has lately passed between Gov. and the government health officials. The net result is that for the first time in three years, the government announces itself perfectly satisfied with the situation in San Francisco, and feels free to take the statements of what the California officials will do toward preventing a recurrence of the disease in San Francisco at their face value.

The Treasury officials, who are handling the matter, are free to say that if Gov. Gage had treated the Federal government with the same earnestness as has Gov. Pardee, San Francisco would have been declared free from plague long ago.

ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For compensation of special agents in the Bureau of Corporations and for their traveling expenses and subsistence, $100,000.

For the Department of Justice and Attorney-General's two new special assistants, $50,000.

These are the facts and figures which show which way the trust members of the House and Senate want the anti-trust bill to blow.

The Knights of Labor of Washington and the Anti-Trust League see how farcical it is to try to get at "publicity" when the Bureau of Corporations is allowed only $100,000, including maintenance and traveling expenses, when the bureau will have 800 trusts to investigate. The Knights and the Anti-Trust League have therefore passed resolutions showing up these facts, and will present them as a protest to the Committee on Appropriations. That committee, however, is to cur down. Secretary Cortis's recommendations for $150,000 for special agents to $30,000. Four good reasons are given for the reduction, for with this $30,000, so that the force and intention of the Republican majority of the House are evident.

depositories $150,472,424, leaving a net balance in the treasury of $1,994,454. The amount of money now in the treasury, available for all purposes, is $1,994,454, from which amount, if we deduct $50,000,000 as a necessary working balance for the treasury, we shall have only $1,944,454 to meet the demands of the treasury growing out of the Panama transaction which will call for $50,000,000. It is, therefore, evident that (either the government must at once call for $25,000,000 from the banks or, appropriating $50,000,000 from the amount in the treasury, leaving a working balance of only about $22,000,000, which must be supplemented by collections from the various repurchases until the amount in the treasury shall be brought up to $50,000,000 before an appropriation can be made for any other purpose without infringing upon what has generally been considered a proper working balance, viz.: $50,000,000. It is, therefore, evident that the government will not have any additional money to deposit with the national banks for the next five or eight months. If, indeed, it shall have collected as much as $30,000,000 within that time.

These had the amount deposited with national banks is $14,111,596, for which the government holds government bonds to the amount of $12,000,000 and about $2,000,000 of other bonds. The measure now submitted to the House is that the government may deposit any public money, including this $14,111,596, with national banks, in no case exceeding in amount 75 per cent. of the paid-up and unimpaired capital of any national bank, and the balance of the government or other bonds, but the government shall have a first lien upon the assets of the bank and shall receive interest on such deposits at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July. It will be seen that the effect of the provision will be to place the government's money in the hands of the banks, and the banks will be required to pay the interest on the government's money.

It is clear that the plan proposed is perfectly safe, and that if the rate of interest has been 2 per cent. and the accounts were brought down to date, the amount that the government has received during the past twenty-four months, would have been nearly $20,000,000, and the government would be in a position to pay the interest on the government's money.

The government should cease to be a disturbing factor in our business affairs. It was that thought that moved your committee to fix the rate of interest, instead of allowing it to become a variable quantity, to be increased at the pleasure of the Secretary, a circumstance which has caused the government to be in a position to pay the interest on the government's money.

The Payne bill was not called up in the committee today. The friends of the bill, however, are confident that it will be called up in the near future.

Mr. Payne introduced a resolution today providing for a rule of order in the House, which was referred to the Committee on Rules.

TROLLEY KINGS OF AMERICA.

One of Monarchs Booked for Visit in Pasadena.

Magnates Nearly All Booked from Poor Boys.

How William L. Elkins, Who is Touring California, Made His Millions.

Within the last decade a new king has sprung up—the street-railway king. He is always American and almost invariably he has been evolved from a poor boy. He is the practical man to whom American cities are looking for solutions of their transportation problems, and he is the man who is spending millions upon millions in his efforts to meet the demands of continually increasing centers of population. Reporters of his class are H. H. Vreeland of New York, Charles T. Yerkes of Chicago, Murray Verner and Judge J. H. Reed of Pittsburgh, and P. A. B. Widener and William L. Elkins of Philadelphia.

Mr. Elkins is at the present time sojourning in Southern California, and will spend a few weeks in Pasadena for the benefit of his health.

WIDENER'S STORY.

Messrs. Widener and Elkins operate more miles of street railways in more American cities and towns than any other two men in the business. They have made an enormous checker board of Philadelphia with their possessions; there are important voices in the management of New York's subway lines; they have competition in scores of interior towns in Pennsylvania.

This is the "Equality Store," where all people are treated alike.

If you're looking for a hat that's particularly becoming to your particular style of beauty, step in here.

dependent lines surrounding the People's system, which gridded the business section of the city. The partners, keeping in the background, quietly set to work, and whenever an opportunity offered, bought blocks of stock, no matter how large or small, through agents. This thing kept up for several years, until even the strong and important Continental line had been largely absorbed. Widener and Elkins in the mean time, not showing their hands, and manipulating everything so unostentatiously that the public did not dream of what was going on.

Neither did that powerful corporation, the People's, until one day its members awoke to the fact that some unknown parties had got hold of their connecting lines, seemingly overnight, and were covertly threatening to parallel some of their best dividend-paying properties. Here was a pretty hot-tub, and the People's, fearing that the threat might be carried out, proclaimed to the agents of their opponents, who had hinted at such a move, that it was willing to consider a proposition for the merging of the two interests for their mutual benefit. Then Mr. Widener and Mr. Elkins, one suddenly cut into the open, met the People's representatives, convinced the latter that they were masters of the situation, and made them a proposition. The upshot of the whole matter was that a few Philiates later Philadelphia found that the all-powerful People's had been taken over by two men whom they had never dreamed of being street railway powers, and one of them—Mr. Elkins—they had never heard of.

Some years ago Mr. Widener became treasurer of Philadelphia. At that time the office paid his holder, besides a liberal salary, about $20,000 a year in fees. When Mr. Widener began recording this money he cast about for a way to invest it, and then it was that he recalled Robert Mackay's statement that a good street-car line was equal to a big-vein gold mine for return.

Mr. Widener decided to buy street-railway stock, but when he went into the market he found that the People's company controlled nearly all the pay-off lines, and he could not get into their paper that no one wanted to part with his holdings.

The People's properties were in the center and built-up portions of the city. Surrounding them were other lines, all operated independently and all near bankrupt for the same reason—scarcity of population along their routes. Thwarted in his attempt to get into the People's, Mr. Widener began a careful investigation of these railways, with the result that he became convinced that several of them would be good investments in a few years when the city had grown more. He decided to set out, if possible, of the most of these lines, whose terminals were in the open country to the north and south.

ELKINS GETS NEXT.

In hearing up the situation, Mr. Widener discovered that if the amount of his surplus capital were doubled by some one else, the road could be secured. Right here he thought of his friend, William L. Elkins, a prosperous oil dealer in that part of the town through which the Union line ran, and which he used to equal his business. On that route also Mr. Widener had his most important butcher shop, and it chanced that frequently the two men met in the cars. This led to a nodding acquaintance, and gradually into friendship, so that when Mr. Widener was thinking of going into street railways the intimacy had become marked and warm.

It did not take Mr. Widener long to convince Mr. Elkins that the Union would be a good investment in a few years. They pooled their capital, and experienced no difficulty in the stockholders were only too willing to sell what they considered hopelessly property. Two years later, owing to economic and the spread of population, dividends were declared.

This move then, which had hoped encouraged Mr. Widener and Mr. Elkins to branch out, and they bought up a connecting line, two miles in length, whose equipment was exactly the same and eight horses, and which they penetrated still farther into the country to the south. And pretty soon.

THEIR FIRST MERGERS.

Then it was that the plan was conceived of getting hold of all the in-

MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1908.

New Line Opened---Monrovia Welcomes Trolley.

The country out Monrovia way woke up yesterday to the tune of big electric cars humming through the orange groves. Such a visitation of city folks never before descended upon that prosperous foothill region as was whirled in during the otherwise quiet Sabbath hours over the Pacific Electric's new Monrovia line, which saw its "grand opening" yesterday.

Orcharded and vineyards stood smiling at the cross roads as the wheeled herds of a new era for that section bowed through for the first time with their loads of excursionists.

The ride to Monrovia over the new electric line is one of the most beautiful yet developed in Southern California, skirting the superb location of the Raymond Hotel, near Pasadena, and passing the while through a succession of magnificent orange groves and lanes of pepper trees.

The road leaves the Pasadena branch line at a junction directly south of the Raymond Hotel, and follows the lower line of the hills through Arcadia, and thence to the heart of the town of Monrovia, finding its present terminus at Myrtle avenue.

From 10 o'clock a.m. to 4 o'clock p.m. yesterday cars were run on a thirty-minute schedule, and were crowded with passengers. Today, and until a schedule adapted to the practical needs of the line has been formulated, cars will run every hour, starting from First and Los Angeles streets at 7 a.m. and continuing until 11 p.m. Part of the famed vineyard of "Lucky" Baldwin is traversed by the gleaming new route.

Getting Orders

Watching for it

The run of a little over seventeen miles is at present made in fifty-four minutes. The roadbed is in good condition, but is not yet double tracked the more than about twelve miles.

No special functions marked the opening of the interurban line, that means so much to a fruitful section of Southern California, and that will reach on still further before long; the public simply jumped aboard and was off for new rights to see, glad to pay its individual initiation fee of four-bits for a "come back" ticket. It was estimated by City Ticket Agent Gentry of the Pacific Electric, who went over the line in the afternoon, that 3500 passengers were carried to Monrovia and return by the company yesterday. Upon arrival at the foothill town, most of the visitors strolled through the orange groves and among the pretty homes before returning.

Members of the Los Angeles police department, the local Lodge of Elks, the order of Odd Fellows, the Fraternal Brotherhood and citizens joined yesterday in showing respect for the memory of the late William T. Huston. The large attendance of mourning friends, a profusion of beautiful floral offerings and impressive ceremonial for the dead, all showed the high esteem in which the deceased police officer was held.

The principal services were held at Elks' Hall at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The ceremonies were conducted by Los Angeles Lodge No. 24 Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Exalted Ruler Milton K. Young presiding, and Rev. John L. Pinner, officiating as chaplain.

The casket containing the remains was borne into the hall by Patrolmen Wilson and Loomis, all brother officers heaped floral emblems of beautiful design, contributed by the various organizations, and many individual offerings. Near the casket were seated the widow and young son of the deceased and other mourners, and around these central figures were grouped nearly all the members of the police force, the Lodge of Elks, Odd Fellows, members of the Fraternal Brotherhood, and representatives of other orders, to which Huston belonged. There was also a large attendance of friends not affiliated with the order. The funeral service of the Elks was fittingly performed. Chaplain Finner delivered a fervent prayer, and Burns, H. G. Dow and Will Stephens sang "The Vacant Chair," many eyes were dimmed with tears.

Long Funeral Cortège of the Late William T. Huston, City Jailor.

PLATOON OF POLICE, LED BY CHIEF ELTON, HEADING PROCESSION.

At the conclusion of the services the members of the department marched by the casket in single file and took a last look at the face of their dead comrade. The Elks, Odd Fellows and other fraternal representatives, followed next, after which a procession was formed to front of the hall to escort the body on its way to Rosehill cemetery. Following was the order of march: Band; police in three platoons, with Chief Elton and Capt. Hensley at the head; Elks; Odd Fellows; Fraternal Brotherhood; band; and pallbearers; mourners and citizens.

At Spring and Seventh streets, the police and fraternal organizations combined the escort, formed in own column, while the hearse passed between the lines, everybody uncovering as the body was borne by. The police were in full-dress uniform, and the force never made a better showing on dress parade. One company of the Fraternal Brotherhood was also in uniform, and made a fine appearance. At Seventh street five electric cars were in waiting to take the marchers to the cemetery.

West End Lodge, No. 383, I.O.O.F., had charge of the services at the cemetery, S. L. Colborn, Noble Grand, and P. M. Salles, Chaplain, officiating. After the brief service the remains were consigned to the crematory for incineration.

Officer Huston, besides leaving to his family the legacy of an untold real and personal property, and carried $5000 life insurance, including the police pension fund. He was a popular and efficient officer, and his death is sincerely mourned both in and out of the department.

TORMENT FOR THE PARIAHS.

Macqueranz Kept in Prison, Cash Bail Refused.

A Sweeping Crusade Begun by the Chief of Police.

"Darmis" Who Lies on the Earnings of Crib Women are Doomed.

Thirteen crib women, twelve of them arrested on a charge of vagrancy Saturday night by order of Chief Elton, and one pulled in yesterday, were released yesterday, $100 cash bail for each having been deposited with the clerk of court. The seven "mamas" taken into custody at the same time, are still in durance vile and are apt to be for some time to come.

Friends of the lousiest pariahs, who looked anxiously through the bars yesterday, exhausted every means to secure the release of the prisoners on cash bail. In times past a deposit of $50 for such persons has effected this, but yesterday it was different. The men in jail, all French, had stashes of money, diamonds and jewelry, but it availed them nothing.

Cash bail need not be accepted to release a vagrant until a complaint has been sworn to. The same officers may take their time in doing this, but it is likely that the complaints will be sworn to today. Officers Henderson and Murphy, who made the arrests. Then the police judge may fix the bail in each case at a maximum of $500. It is intimated that the "mamas" will wear wry faces when they learn what their wily will cost them.

It was something of a surprise to the "mamas" Saturday night to learn that a warrant of their kind had been taken to the Police Station, and they all hurried to cover. Yesterday attorneys were employed to secure the release of the prisoners, but for the second time there was surprise and consternation. Chief Elton's policy has had a very depressing effect on the despicable element that lives and fattens upon the shame of fallen women. All of the men in jail will demand a jury trial, no doubt, and if convicted each of them will probably pay the maximum penalty, 180 days on the chain gang.

The arresting officers have been working up their case for fifteen or twenty days, and claim to have convincing evidence against the pimps and prostitutes. It is said that the present crusade, which was planned by Chief Elton a month ago, will be vastly more sweeping and thorough than any similar one ever inaugurated.

I Am Always Willing to Wait For My Fee Until Cure Is Effected.

"Weakness" Varicocelo
I am confident that I have cured more cases of so-called "weakness" than any other physician; there may be doctors in the largest eastern cities who have treated more cases than I, but they cling to the old and ineffective practice of doing with "cod-liver-oil," "iron-bitters," or "nervine," which are merely a symptom of local disorder that requires local treatment; this is a truth that I have discovered, and that has been fully established by my success in effecting permanent cures. My method is identical with myself, and is employed by no other physician.

Specific Blood Poison Stricture

PASADENA. Office of The Times
No. 26 South Raymond avenue, 1
E.—What H. E. Huntington, the Electric Railway magnate,

In the first place, the ranchman has made an astonishingly large number of reports within the past few weeks, and every day reports come to the office on delivery.

In the first place the entire ranch, consisting of five or six acres, was bought, or rather suffered from Holliman, who had been working for him.

The Titus ranch of fifty acres or about $250,000 and the White ranch of 250 acres for a sum in excess of $100,000.

A number of other ranches, more numerous than mentioned in the list. Huntington negotiated purchases of the Schofield ranch and a large number of acres belonging to the same owner.

an agreement with the owners. Huntington now owns a vast majority of the land between his Mountain View railway and the Santa Anita desert about Santa Anita and avenues, including about one thousand acres. It is fine land, but mostly unsprinkled. He has bought, also, about 1,000 acres of land between the mouth of Pinar, which the city of Pasadena was offered at one time, and erect a reservoir in the neighborhood for storage of water for his lands.

Taking these things into account, it is also that the Pacific Electric Company the laying of rails on the line that to the Lamanda Park, on the line and on the Santa Anita line, and on the Santa Anita line, and on the Santa Anita line, with a belt loop from the Short ranch, the neighbors of the city, and the section is to be located in the city of Pasadena.

divided into building lots and a certain building restrictions, and was sold to the Huntington & South Pasadena.

CONRAD KNOWN HERE.

H. Conrad of Los Angeles, by his own hand yesterday, was known in this city, where more than a decade he was the senior of the clothing firm of O. Honnold. H. C. Honnold bore the first part of the business and went into business in Los Angeles immediately.

It is known to have had more than falls to most people. It was bad and his domestic life most unsatisfactory. He was a man who had a great deal of work in the mountains, a disease got such a firm root in him that he never recovered from it. A few weeks he broke out with the pimples.

Two months ago, a fresh case, the body of a man was found in the city and treated in a private hospital on this occasion. His name is not known. The funeral will be held in this city at the home of the deceased. The funeral will be held in this city at the home of the deceased. ASADENA. March 1.—The Thomas Cravens residence on the corner of Orange Grove ave.
and Arlington drive, was recently converted from a place festivity to one of great confusion on evening last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Cravens were entertaining at dinner, and the entire course had been enjoyed when several of the guests were stricken violently ill. A physician was summoned, and all the available trained nurses in the city hurriedly telephoned for help after another some half-dozen people were stricken. It was found that the trouble had been caused by poisonous poisoning, the offending substance being, probably, secreted in an alarm. Among the principal sufferers were Mrs. Craven, her sister, Mrs. Copley, and Mrs. H. Warden, all of whom are now out of danger, but for a time suffered considerably.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Liberal Club.

J. O. Haskins delivered a lecture before the Liberal Club at Brent's Hall last night, advocating the teaching of religion in the public schools.

East Side.

The advance sale of seats for the return visit of the play, "The Heart of Maryland," and for Zeile De Lanza's engagement, will open this morning at the Los Angeles Theater box office.

Burglar Tapped Trouser.

A burglar entered the home of George A. Smith, No. 1225 East Ninth street, Saturday night and stole $15 from a pair of trousers. The method used by the thief in getting into the house is not known, but it was not a keyhole's job.

Cooper Club.

The Cooper Ornithological Club held its regular session in Hadrich's red room Saturday evening. After the usual papers and discussions a banquet was served. There was a large attendance and unusual interest was manifested.

St. Patrick's Day Banquet.

Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, have perfected plans for a banquet at Levy's on St. Patrick's Day. The affair is in charge of a committee, composed of Messrs. T. J. Cunningham, J. J. Rodin, P. Doyle, T. J. McDonnell and David O'Leary.

State Evangelist.

State Evangelist J. H. Walker of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church has been holding a series of evening meetings at the residence of J. W. Meena, corner of Avenue 56 and Sherman street. This denomination is discussing the idea of building a church in Highland Park.

"Chick" Was Spilled.

A vegetable wagon in which rode Woo Sang, Woo Sing and another Chinaman, was struck by a Buick sedan on East First street yesterday afternoon. All three were taken to the Receiving Hospital, but only Woo Sang was hurt. A three-inch laceration on his forehead was sewed up and he was driven away in a hack.

Mexican Died Suddenly.

Jose Chido, a Mexican, 60 years old, died at his home, 2000 Broadway street and Wesley avenue, Saturday evening, of rheumatism of the heart. He was sitting in a chair, apparently well, then keeled over and died without uttering a sound. Chido was a familiar figure at the court, and had lived there while two generations of his children grew up.

Reported Held-up.

It was reported at Police headquarters by an unidentified person last night that L. W. Wood, living at No. 514 East Third street, had been held up by a footpad and robbed of $10 at Bunker Hill avenue and First street at 1:30 o'clock last evening. It was said that the highwayman had a revolver and that he spurned Mr. Wood's watch and jewelry.

Fire in Fast House.

The Board of District Deputies of the Independent Order of Foresters met at the office of the High Court in the Stowell Block Friday evening for the purpose of organization. H. H. Franklin, Past Chief Deputee of Court La Plasta, No. 228, was elected chairman, and W. H. Perry was elected secretary and treasurer. The next meeting will be held on the evening of March 3, in the office of the High Court.

Fire in Fast House.

A visitor at Lena Donahue's brothel, No. 251 Aliso street, dropped a lighted cigar stump into pot containing an artificial palm at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The palm blazed up, the flames caught the draperies of the room, the inmates rushed frantically out, and the fire engines arrived. When the fire had been extinguished, there was a loss of $500 on the contents of the house, and on the building, a two-story brick, owned by Jean Haggel, 1100 Los.

New Trolley Pole.

C. O. Haskins, a life insurance agent of this city, claims to have invented a trolley pole for street cars that will solve the vexed question of the trolley jumping off the wire. He claims it will have four times the contact surface secured by the ordinary trolley wheel, can be attached to the wire in a second in the darkest night, and can almost turn a right-angle corner at once before without springing the wire. It will be tested this week by the Pacific Electric Company.

Liverymen Make Big Deal.

Tourists, did you say? There wasn't a sign of any proportionate available yesterday afternoon from downtown stables for hotel guests, who had not engaged vehicles far ahead. Early in the day the supply ran out—didn't run away, but just ran out to the point of demand with customers and many a discomfited family of tourists, that had planned a drive in the sunshine after lunch, was notified that the class of vehicle at their command were Mr. Huntington's electric street cars.

Sought Life for Dead.

Three Mexicans in a spring wagon, on which lay the body of a dead woman, drew up at the Police station yesterday afternoon in the vain hope, it appeared, that the surgeon could revive the cold city to life. Primitivo Salas, a woodchopper, said that his wife, Juana, had a fall Saturday morning at the Encino ranch in the San Fernando Valley, where they lived, and that, as she was seen to become a mother, the result was fatal. The downcast Mexicans drove with the woman's body to Breese Bros' morgue, where the Coroner will hold an inquest this morning.

Michigan Reception.

The Michigan State Society gave a reception, Saturday night in Blanchard's Hall to members and Michigan visitors now in the city. Several hundred people were present and were entertained by a musical and literary program. The society voted to accept the offer of Mr. Blanchard to provide a room for State headquarters, and will soon have a permanent office in the building. It is expected other State societies will also have space in the room. Following the program light refreshments were served, and Bacon's orchestra supplied music for dancing. About thirty new members were received by the society.

Corpse in a Car.

The body of an unknown man, an American, about 50 years of age, was found by a railroad employe in a fruit car at Vernon avenue and Alameda street, yesterday morning. The body was in an advanced state of decomposition, and death had evidently occurred three or four days before the discovery. Inside the body was a hypodermic syringe, and it is supposed that the man took an overdose of the drug. He wore laborer's clothes, but the hands looked as though they were not used to toil. There was no money in the pockets nor anything by which he could be identified. The body was removed to Breese Bros' morgue, where an inquest will be held this afternoon.
